The Markets.

NEW YORK, October 20.—Wool quiet, steady. Domestic fleece 32 to 45; pulled 18 to 40; unwashed 10 to 28, Texas 14 to 27.

Money quoted 3 to 4, closing offered 1, prime paper 6 to 7; sterling exchange 4.81, demand 4 84. Governments strong; railroads quiet; state securities steady. Speculative interest centered chiefly on Northern Pacific preferred to day. The stock was in brisk demand throughout. In early dealings bears raided the stock down from 60 to 57 regular. In the meantime cash sales had been made at 63½ to 61. As the day advanced the demand increased, and just before delivery hour a difference of nearly 10 per cent. existed. After delivery hour it became known that many firms had failed to deliver the stocks they had sold and in consequence the delinquents were bought in under the rule. Sales were reported as high as 78¾ cash and 64 regular. Toward the close the price fell off to 59 to 62⅞ regular and 75¾ cash. The excitement which attended the buying in of stock under the rule has rarely been paralleled, the general market for the time having been almost entirely neglected. The enormous difference between cash and regular only partly represents the losses of shorts, as many of those for whose account stock had been bought in under the rule made additional sales in the regular way. This will help the movement which is said to be contemplated to make another squeeze Monday.

Owing to the great excitement attending Northern Pacific the rise in other stocks were lost sight of. It is learned that some of the shorts in Jersey Central have tried to make private settlements, and in some cases paid large sums to secure stock. The general market was irregular throughout the day. The pressure to sell was not marked but the market lacked support. In early hours figures were about ¼ to ¾ below last night's closing. From the first sales prices yielded until a decline of ¼ to 1⅞ per cent. was recorded. Late in the day the market improved in sympathy with the rise in Northern Pacific preferred. Many shorts covered in the other stocks fearing a squeeze. The advance ranged from ¼ to 1⅞. Near the close there was a reaction but in final dealings the market was again in advance. Northern Pacific preferred closed 17¾ per cent. higher at 75¼ cash. The market closed irregular, generally lower than last night. Transactions 356,000.

Mining stocks dull. Horn Silver sold 6.75 and 6.88; Sierra Nevada 4.25 to 4 50; Iron Silver 2.95; Chrysolite 1.10; North Belle Isle 65 to 60. Sales of the day 26,830 shares. Total for the week 196,348 shares. Total bullion receipts in New York for the week from mines $216,000.

A SHORT SQUEEZE.

From the Commercial Advertiser: During the last hour the most intense excitement prevailed on the stock exchange in consequence of transactions in Northern Pacific preferred. Thousands of shares that had been sold could not be delivered and brokers were compelled to have them bought in at the board. Naturally the highest sort of prices was demanded. The loss will fall upon customers of course. If they can't stand it the brokers will. It was expected many of the houses could not bear twisting, but up to the last moment no failure had been reported. Stock brokers to-day paid as high as $925 for the use of one hundred shares of Northern Pacific preferred. These figures are unprecedented. Small premiums ranging from ⅛ to 1 point had been charged in this stock in the early part of the week. On Wednesday the rate was advanced to 3 per cent and since that time varied to a more or less extent. To-day capped the climax when the stock was loaned at 5¼ per cent. Considerable surprise was expressed as the short interest was known to be very heavy and stock was necessarily scarce. What added to the particular value of it to-day was that the transfer books were to close this afternoon.

The scarcity of stock in this market, and the ease with which it loaned in Philadelphia created in the futile mind of General Collis, of Collis & Levy, a brilliant and daring scheme to "improve the shining hour." He borrowed 1,500 shares flat in Philadelphia and began dealing it out on the floor of the New York exchange at 10.30 this morning at rates ranging anywhere from 5 to 9¼ per cent. In order to make his deliveries good, he directed Arnold, of a Philadelphia house, to charter a special train and reach New York before 2.15 p m. The business was very risky. Failure to make his deliveries good meant ruin. Disaster or detention on the road was equally to be feared. However, Arnold, with his valuable cargo, hurried to the Pennsylvania railway office and applied to General Manager Thompson for a special train and a clear track. An engine and baggage car were placed at his disposal, and shortly before 11 o'clock the special train rushed from the station and was thundering on its way to this city at the rate of seventy miles an hour. It took only an hour and forty minutes to cover ninety miles of road, and before 1 o'clock the stock was in Messrs. Collis & Levy's office, ready for delivery. Collis & Levy estimated their profits at least $10,000. Later in the day a premium of 13 per cent. was paid, 75 cash, 60 regular way, or $13 a day for its use.

Financial Troubles

CINCINNATI, October 20.—Paper of the Union Iron company of Portsmouth, Ohio, went to protest some weeks ago, and the affairs of the company have been since put in the hands of trustees. Liabilities are estimated at $500,000, assets much less. John Campbell, of Ironton, Ohio, one of the heaviest creditors, has made assignment to H. S. Neal. These embarrassments have been kept very quiet, but they affect eight or nine of the largest furnaces in southern Ohio. Campbell claims he can get through unless creditors force a sale, in which case he says they will not get more than 50 per cent.

The Sharon Scandal.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 20.—The charge of adultery against Senator Sharon, preferred by Miss Aggie Hill, who claims to be his wife, came up for hearing before Judge Lawler this morning. An immense crowd assembled at the doors of the police court, and long before the proceedings began the room was crowded to its utmost capacity. Senator Sharon, accompanied by his counsel, General Barnes, was present. Wm. Nelson, complaining witness on behalf of Miss Hill, was assisted by G. W. Tyler. Miss Hill was not present. The examination occupied the entire morning. Prior to consideration of the case at issue Nelson made a statement that his witnesses had been intimidated; that the police authorities had failed to serve subpœnas, and that consequently he was unable to produce them. Gen. Barnes objected to such an assertion. It would be sufficient for Nelson to cite the instances referred to in his complaints and the law would know how to deal with them. By permission of the court Nelson was allowed to continue his statements, which were partly of his own knowledge, partly from information. He then proceeded to say he had been offered money to stay proceedings and that when he refused he was intimidated; that Miss Diebe, with whom the alleged adultery took place, could not be found and that the father of Miss Brockett, the confidential companion of Miss Hill, had suddenly acquired wealth. Witnesses called by the defense denied Nelson's statements, after which the case was called charging Sharon with felony. The prosecuting attorney immediately arose and stated that it was impossible to continue the prosecution as statute governing the case had been repealed and no longer existed. Barnes arose to set aside all technicalities and allow the case to go on, as he wanted an opportunity of obliging the prosecution to produce the alleged marriage contract under which the complaint had been sworn out. The document was not produced nor was the existence of it admitted. Barnes strongly denounced the whole business as a villainous scheme, the contract as a fraud and forgery from top to bottom and the complaint an outrage on public justice, chiefly so on the defendant who was dragged into court on a sworn charge of felony, and when the case was called the prosecution was abandoned. Tyler said he was not aware when the complaint was made out that the statute had been repealed. The judge said that such was the case, and ordered the case dismissed. The fact that the prosecution was unable or unwilling to produce the alleged marriage contract seems to confirm in the public mind the original suspicion that the matter was started to extort money from Sharon.

Yellow Jack.

WASHINGTON, October 20.—Experts sent to Brewton, Ala., by Surgeon General Hamilton of the marine hospital service, to make an investigation of the epidemic at that place, have reported by telegraph that the disease is yellow fever. Up to yesterday there had been 34 cases and 18 deaths. Dr. Hamilton says this is a very high rate of mortality. The town is between three and five hundred population, but the disease is not spreading to any extent. Adjoining towns have quarantined.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 20. Chris Monco, the Swiss passenger who arrived yesterday on the steamer Granada from Panama, died this morning. The body will be buried with the same precaution taken in previous cases of yellow fever brought from Mazatlan on the steamer Newbern. All other passengers have been transferred to an old steamer which is now used as a sort of quarantine hospital. The mails and cargo and everything else aboard the steamer have been fumigated before being brought ashore.

W. W. Felon, a resident of Mazatlan, now staying in this city, is in receipt of a letter from his brother saying that all fears are now abated in Mazatlan. Fully fifteen hundred had died from it in that place alone. He also confirms the news already telegraphed of the destruction of Altata by hurricane.

A Murderer Murdered.

DES MOINES, Ia., October 20.—News is received by special courier that W. A. Klein, under indictment for the murder of Mayor Stubbs, of Polk City, was shot at Clyde, in Jasper county, this morning by his brother-in-law, John Coots. After Klein's release on bail he went to his deceased father's farm near Clyde, which is occupied by Coots. The latter construed this as an intrusion, and the two had frequent quarrels, ending in Coots serving notice of ejectment on Klein. This morning while Klein was sitting at the breakfast table Coots approached him from the rear and shot him with his revolver. He then tried to shoot two or three others in the room but all escaped, when he fled to the woods and has not yet been found. Physicians say Klein can live but a few hours.

An Irish Hope.

LONDON, October 20.—The Irish national league here passed a resolution expressing surprise and pleasure at the tenor of the speech of Chief Justice Coleridge at the reception by the New York bar association. The resolution expressed a hope that the principles enunciated in that address will be applied by the British government to Ireland; also that the American tour of Coleridge will serve to enlarge his views and enable him to advocate self-government for Ireland.

Canada's Girl Supply.

TORONTO, October 20. There is considerable discussion regarding the letter of Archbishop Lynch to the Dublin poor law guardians. The archbishop writes that the board asked him to take under his direction a number of girls from the Dublin workhouse. He replied that Canada was very well supplied with help at present and would not advise girls to come out this winter.

American Stocks Abroad.

LONDON, October 20.—The Economist says: The most pronounced feature of the week was the fall in English, American and Canadian securities. Movements in the two last named are due to the disquieting condition of commercial relations across the Atlantic, which have induced some of the Canadian banks to strengthen their cash reserves from this side.

On the home stretch it was hard to tell who was ahead, but Clifton Bell by a fine burst of speed came to the front and passed under the wire by a half length ahead, Mary S second, Chantilla third, Thady fourth; time 2.12¼.

Stage Robbers Convicted.

DENVER, October 20.—The trial of the stage robbers in the United States court was concluded to-day. The argument was resumed at the incoming of court at 9 o'clock this morning and occupied the entire forenoon. Shortly after 12 o'clock the case was given to the jury, which after a rather short stay out returned a verdict of guilty as to Jack Lawrence, Harry Forrest, Fred Judge and Frank Curtis. Sears was acquitted.

Serious Accident.

BOSTON, October 20.—A platform crowded with spectators watching the scull races of Harvard on the Charles river broke down. Several were seriously injured, having legs and arms broken. Most of the injured are Harvard men. A student named Mead, of Boston, class of '81, had his skull fractured and both legs broken; will probably die. The injuries of the others are principally fractured limbs.

The crews were getting into line for the start. About 150 students had crowded to front of two balconies which stand out from the river front of the Harvard boat house. About an equal number were on each balcony, all pressing forward to see the race, when both balconies gave way, precipitating many into the river, while many others standing on the lower balcony were penned down and bruised by the fall of the upper balcony upon them. Fortunately it was but half tide and those who fell into the river escaped with a wetting. As quickly as possible the upper platform was raised and several men released in an injured condition and carried into the boat house. Physicians were sent for and promptly responded. Most of those seriously injured are hurt internally. The names as far as ascertained are J. A. White, senior, Williamsport, Pennsylvania, internally injured; E. H. Allen, freshman, Cambridge, internally injured, arm broken; C. T. Hardwick, junior, Quincy, internally hurt; L. P. Frost, sophomore, Boston, injured in head and back; A H Drake, freshman, residence unknown, bruised about back; Fred S. Mead, freshman, Boston, internally injured and bruised about the head—probably fatally; H. R. Curtis, junior, Boston, back bruised; Geo. A. Stewart, South Boston, knee sprained and bruised about head; Chas. S. Hamlin, class '83, grandson of Hannibal Hamlin, Boston, bruised about head. The others were less injured and able to take care of themselves but those named were conveyed to their room in carriages. The crews, who saw what had happened, hastened to the boat house and assisted in attending the injured.

A Villain Discovered

LINCOLN, Ill., October 20.—Seora Burns, who had been employed as a domestic in the family of O'Brien A. Carpenter, a prominent and wealthy resident of this city, was found dead near the outskirts of the city one week ago, her body bearing all the evidence of a desperate murder, the throat cut from ear to ear, the skull crushed. Her arms bore evidence that she had had a furious struggle with her assailant. Ever since the discovery of her body the entire community has aided detectives in the search for the murderer. It was learned that she was engaged to a young farmer named Dukes, and suspicion pointed somewhat toward him, but the past two days a chain of apparently criminating circumstances has been wound around her employer, Carpenter, which resulted in his arrest this afternoon.

Investigation disclosed that Seora had left his employ and was going to the home of her father in a village near Lincoln and on the day preceding her death came to the city and paid a visit to Carpenter's office, remaining with him an hour alone. He was the only person she visited so far as known. Carpenter related a story plainly denied by facts subsequently disclosed. It was also discovered that the dead girl was enciente, and the testimony of various parties tended to show that he had supplied the girl with money and had written her various letters. The bartender of the Nolte house here testified that Carpenter purchased from him a half pint of whisky on the day of the murder. An examination of Carpenter's buggy to-day disclosed that the cushion and shafts were plainly marked with blood, and on this discovery a warrant was immediately sworn out for his arrest. He was followed to jail by a large and excited crowd. The accused is credited with being the wealthiest resident in Lincoln, owning a large grain elevator here, a farm near the city and other property. He has a wife and two daughters.

SPRINGFIELD, October 20.—The sheriff of Logan county this afternoon applied to the governor for leave to call on the military to assist him in maintaining peace and to protect the life of the supposed murderer of Seora Burns. The governor directed the sheriff to use civil process and not make a call for military except as a last resort.

A correspondent of the Inter Ocean telegraphing from Lincoln to-night says: The place is quiet, and now that Carpenter is under arrest there is a revulsion of feeling in his behalf, but says if certain clues now being followed by the detectives should to tend to fasten the guilt more certainly on Carpenter the presence of military might prove very essential in preventing lynching.

The People's Railway.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 20.—The People's Railway Company of America, incorporated at Indianapolis, has through its representatives reached this point. Some of them are here negotiating for an outlet on San Francisco Bay, but with whom it is not stated. Some time ago a dispatch was received here from Visalia, Cala., that J. W. Tripp, traveling agent for the company, had organized a local board at that point with $50,000 capital stock subscribed. Since then nothing further has been heard of the agent or company.

Still Shaking.

LONDON, October 20.—Three shocks of earthquake in quick succession were felt at Gibraltar shortly after midnight and another at 2 this morning. Its direction was north to south. The duration of the shocks was from 10 to 12 seconds each.

CONSTANTINOPLE, October 20. Slight shocks of earthquake continue in Anatolia. The death lists there in the recent convulsions are said to be greatly magnified.

Gold Discovery

LISBON, D. T., October 20.—Intense excitement prevails here over the discovery of gold. H. W. Griswold, of Chicago, made the discovery on his place near here two months ago He had samples assayed, and the result showed from $20 to $250 per ton. The matter was kept quiet until Griswold had secured all the land in the vicinity. There is great excitement in this part of the country, and crowds are leaving for the scene of the discovery.

Dissatisfied Railroaders.

GALVESTON, October 20.—The News' Dallas special says: The places of Texas & Pacific freight hands who struck yesterday for an advance in wages were easily filled to-day. There was some talk of intimidating the new men that is unfulfilled. There is no trouble at any other points in Texas, though the men here hoped the strike started in East St. Louis would become general throughout the southwest.

Arabi Pasha's Defender.

CALOMBO, Ceylon, October 20.—Wilfred Blunt, active in organizing the defence of Arabi Pasha and other prominent Egyptian officers who were tried for rebellion, has arrived here with his wife. Egyptian exiles and principal native Mahommedans of Calombo boarded the steamer and extended a cordial welcome to Blunt and his wife and presented him with an address in a silver casket.

Texas' Wealth

GALVESTON, October 20.—A News Austin special says: The assessment rolls of 153 counties received so far show an increase of tax values in this state of over $95,000,000 above last year, with 15 counties to hear from, which will doubtless make a total increase of one hundred million.

Railroad Conductors

KANSAS CITY, October 20.—The railroad conductors completed their work to-day and adjourned to meet in Boston next year. A large party visited Leavenworth to day. Tomorrow morning 250, including guests, leave by special for Denver and a trip through Colorado.

A Very Harmonious and Quiet Gathering.

Nomination of Candidates for the Several County Offices.

The republican county convention met in this city, at Court House hall, yesterday afternoon, in pursuance of a call issued by the central committee. We recommend that the temporary officers be made permanent.

We also respectfully recommend the following order of business in nominating candidates: First, county judge; second, clerk and recorder; third, county treasurer; fourth, county sheriff; fifth, county assessor; sixth, county surveyor; seventh, county commissioner; eighth, county superintendent of schools; ninth, county coroner; tenth, the election of a county central committee of three members for the ensuing year.

A. CREE, chairman.
S. M. BUZZARD, secretary.

The report was, on the motion of Mr. H. A. Wilson, accepted and adopted with the understanding that the delegates from precinct No. 14 be allowed seats in the convention as recommended by the committee.

Chairman Stewart called for the nomination of a county judge and appealed for the pleasure of the convention. In response Colonel Kittridge of Four Mile placed in nomination the name of E. A. Colburn, the present incumbent. He had no opposition and was nominated by acclamation.

Next in accordance with the order adopted by the committee came the nomination of a county clerk and recorder. Mr. Ainsworth Brown nominated for this position a man who, he said, had filled the position in the past to the satisfaction of everyone in El Paso county. He named Mr. E. J. Eaton, who was made the choice of the convention by acclamation.

On the motion of Mr. C. W. Barker of Manitou, Mr. L. C. Dana, the present incumbent, was unanimously chosen by acclamation as the republican candidate for sheriff. He had no opposition.

When the nomination of a candidate for county treasurer was called for Prof. J. H. Kerr arose and with some very complimentary remarks nominated Mr. A. A. McGovney. He said that what the voters of the county wanted was a man whose history was clear and one who was in other respects qualified for the place. "It was the sense of the voters," the professor said, "to choose only such men as were thoroughly qualified and men who had backbone to carry into effect what was required of them. The voters expect to say of the delegates sent to this convention, 'Well done good and faithful servants.' Therefore let me have the honor of naming for the position of county treasurer a man who has gone through the fire, a veritable salamander as it were, without being singed. This man is Mr. A. A. McGovney." He was nominated by acclamation.

When it came to the nomination of an assessor Mr. E. E. Nichols, of Manitou, placed before the convention the name of Mr. E. G. Perkins. There being no other nominations made Mr. Perkins was declared by acclamation the choice of the convention for this place.

The chairman called for nominations for county commissioner. Mr. Ford, of Monument, nominated Mr. G. H. Stewart, and Mr. John Campbell, with a few remarks, placed in nomination the name of Hon. Matt. France.

Mr. Al Cree of Manitou said that while he was willing to agree in some respects with Mr. John Campbell as to the qualifications of Mr. France for the position of county commissioner he was of the opinion that the voters of the county should demand the nomination of a man who should show the outside precincts some favor. Within a few miles of Colorado Springs the roads have been properly cared for; otherwise they have been neglected. Mr. Cree said that as the county boasted of having a bank account of $14,000, why not spend some of it in improving the county roads. Here Mr. Cree showed that by an accident that had occurred in Ute Pass owing to the imperfect condition of the road a man had been seriously injured and the county was now paying for his treatment. Why not, he said, take part of the $14,000 now in the bank and from which it is really a revenue and repair the county roads "It looks as if the banks and county commissioners were working together." Mr. Cree then placed in nomination the name of A. Z. Sheldon.

Chairman Stewart said that he had only allowed his name to be used with the understanding that it was not to be in opposition to Mr. France.

On the motion of Mr. John Campbell the convention then proceeded to an informal ballot, Messrs. J. E. McIntyre and Col. Kittridge being appointed tellers by the chair.

Before a vote was taken Mr. Cree asked for enlightenment as to whether Mr. France really expected to return from New Mexico and attend to business.

Mr. Irving Howbert said that he had seen Mr. France at Silver City and he said that for some reasons he would like to have the place and for others he would not. Mr. France said to him that he would certainly be able to attend the commissioners' meeting in April and possibly in January.

An informal ballot was then taken with the following result:

France	28
Sheldon	17
Stewart	8

Mr. Campbell then moved for a formal ballot and Judge Stewart at the same time withdrew his name as a candidate.

The result of the formal ballot was:

France	41
Sheldon	13
Stewart	2

Through the nominations of Colonel Kittridge Mr. B. A. P. Eaton was nominated by acclamation superintendent of schools.

Dr. Isaac Davis of Manitou was by acclamation named as coroner.

When it came to the nomination of a county surveyor Mr. D. L. Jackson named W. A. Richards; Milt. Irvine named H. I. Reed, and Mr. Richards named W. E. Meek. An informal ballot was taken with the following result:

Richards	20
Meek	18
Reed	11

Before a formal vote was taken the names of Reed and Meek were withdrawn, and Mr. Richards was nominated by acclamation.

Upon motion Messrs. John Campbell, C. W. Barker and Len Jackson were appointed members of the county central committee.

There being no further business the convention adjourned.

At a meeting of the delegates of precinct No. 6 held later the following precinct committee was appointed: J. E. McIntyre, Ainsworth Brown and A. G. Draper.

Episcopal Convention.

PHILADELPHIA, October 20.—In the Episcopal convention to-day the committee on amendments to the constitution recommended non-concurrence in the message from the bishops for the conservation of bishops for foreign countries. Their report on an amendment to article 2, proposing a reduction in the number of deputies from each diocese, which the committee had reported as inexpedient, was rejected. It provides that no new diocese shall be formed which shall contain less than six parishes, or less than six presbyteries, nor shall such new diocese be formed if thereby any existing diocese shall be so reduced as to contain less than twelve parishes or less than twelve presbyteries. An amendment was offered to substitute twelve for 6, and twenty-four for twelve After discussion the report of the committee was agreed to by a clerical vote of 17 dioceses yeas, 23 nays, 8 dioceses divided; total, 47; lay vote, 17 dioceses yeas, 18 nays, 2 divided; total, 37. Adjourned till Monday.

From the Congo

LISBON, October 20.—The arrival in the Congo of Sir Frederick Goldsmid on the 18th of September created a sensation there. Sir Frederick stated that the object of his journey was to examine the work already done, but if any difficulties occurred rendering action on the part of the English government desirable he would endeavor to obtain it. It is reported that De Brazza, the French explorer, arrived at Stanley Pool without sufficient appliances to enable him to proceed further up the Congo river. De Brazza will probably meet Henry M. Stanley, when the latter returns from Stanley Falls.

The Times publishes an open letter to Senator Hill.

The San Juan Prospector has published a San Juan edition which deserves a large circulation. It is full of information.

The county republican convention met yesterday and nominated a full county ticket. The proceedings were harmonious. The candidates, with a few exceptions, will receive the unanimous vote of the county. One or two of the nominations have invited an independent ticket.

Ex-Senator Eaton is not so enthusiastic over the result in Ohio. The democratic party has had as good prospects before of electing a president. But Mr. Eaton says the democrats took out a patent for making fools of themselves twenty-five years ago, and have always retained the monopoly. Mr. Eaton is a shrewd observer.

Witty columns in newspapers are not as interesting as they used to be. The trouble is that the different humorists have been compelled to copy from each other in order to produce the necessary daily requirement of copy and the wit is now trite and stale. Robert J. Burdette, who is of the unfortunate class of humorists, very brightly tells his troubles in the following lines called "Wanted a Joke:"

Give me a pair of scissors! Hand me the dictionary!
Bread—beef: that's good. No, I've used that before.
O solemn humor, how dost thou afflict me!
My jokes look blue. Is this one about the cucumber
Is too much like the one about the apple.
What fearful puns I made upon the fair—
Fete, fairy, "fair maids and hardly fair," two kinds of fair:
What can I write? A joke? I will, about a man
Beating a carpet. No, a woman throwing a stone.
No, no: about a man falling down stairs
Escaping on a plug of laundry soap.
Alas! I hate that element funny business.
My memory has a thousand several funny jokes,
And every joke has been told several times.
And all the boys condemn me for my jokes
As trite, at least, necessary to their mein.
Methought the ghosts of all the various jokes
That I had ever heard, or read, or made,
Came to my desk, and every one did show
A genealogical record running back,
Without a break, four hundred thousand years,
And every one among them wore the accursed brand
Of the blue-pencil dude.

The prohibitionists in Massachusetts have just published an address which is largely devoted to an attack on Mr. Robinson, the republican candidate. It does not say anything against Butler and is written in sympathy with him. It is difficult to understand this. The party that nominated Robinson has frequently endeavored to carry out a prohibition policy even at the sacrifice of its own interests. In 1874, though there was a republican majority of 50,000 in the state, the republican party was defeated on this issue. The party that nominated Butler has invariably declared in favor of license as against prohibition. It has always received and retained the rum-seller's support. The two candidates represent their parties on this issue. Robinson is a total abstinence man in his practices and has always been in sympathy with the most intelligent temperance element in the state. Butler is a drinking man and has always been a license man. The saloon-keepers and the rowdy element they control will all vote against Robinson and for Butler. Yet the prohibitionists are urged by their organization to vote for Butler and against Robinson. They are to unite with the saloon-keepers and rough rum element in Boston to elect Butler. It seems absurd and justly calls for the contempt of all decent people for such a fool organization. It consists of cranks, spiritualists, greenbackers and socialists. It is almost on a par with the prohibition party of Ohio which labored for and secured the defeat of Foraker, a pronounced friend of the temperance people who wished to regulate the liquor traffic, and sought the election of Hoadly, who was so violent a friend of the liquor interest, as to publicly declare that he did not wish a prohibition vote. Yet the prohibitionists voted for him. Such a party is bound to bring itself into contempt. It has no influence except to help elect democrats and give the saloon keepers grounds for joyous celebrations after elections. We do not wish to speak of prohibitionists as a class. We are only speaking of the prohibition parties in Ohio and Massachusetts. These parties by no means represent the honest, sensible prohibition element in either state which is too intelligent to work with and vote for its bitterest enemies. Ohio cast 320,000 votes for the prohibition amendment, while the prohibition ticket did not receive 15,000 votes. This shows how little the party represents the real prohibition strength. Of the 320,000 prohibition votes probably 250,000 voted for Foraker, showing that the prohibitionists as a whole are not in favor of electing men to office who are even opposed to regulating the liquor traffic. We say, therefore, that we are not attacking prohibitionists but the prohibition organizations in Ohio and Massachusetts which are a small minority of the party and misrepresent its sentiments. If the prohibitionists succeed in their efforts to elect Butler over Mr. Robinson as they did Hoadly over Foraker, they will close the heart of every rum seller in New England.

HARPER'S FOR NOVEMBER.

The November number, completing the fifty-seventh volume of Harper's Magazine, is very rich in illustrations, and its articles are timely and entertaining. The frontispiece, illustrating Austin Dobson's poem, "At Last," is from a drawing by E. A. Abbey. Herbert Tuttle contributes an article, entitled "A Vacation in Vermont," beautifully illustrated with views of Green mountain scenery. "Some Glimpses of Artistic London" are given in an article by Joseph Hatton, illustrated by fine portraits of Leighton, Pildes, Millais, Boughton, Alma-Tadema, Pettie, and Herkomer, and views of their studios. Henry P. Johnston contributes an article appropos of the centennial anniversary of the evacuation of New York by the British, with illustrations by Howard Pyle. An interesting biographical sketch of Sir Moses Montefiore, the Jewish philanthropist, now entering on his one hundredth year, is contributed by Mrs. Z. B. Gustafson, with a portrait and other illustrations. "A Castle in Spain" is concluded. "Dunluce Castle," a poem by Sarah Orne Jewett, is accompanied by a beautiful illustration.

Mr. William Blake's article, entitled "Our Children's Bodies," strikes vigorously at some defects of our home and school training, and his suggestions will command general attention. Francis E. Pendergast contributes a timely and comprehensive article on Transcontinental Railways, with a map. Dr. H. H. Kane describes a "Hashish House in New York," and "the curious adventures of an individual who indulged in a few pipefuls of the narcotic hemp." Julian Hawthorne contributes a thrilling All Hallowe'en story, entitled "Ken's Mystery;" and Mrs. Lina Redwood Fairfax an interesting character sketch, entitled "Cæsar and his Fortunes." Poems are contributed by Mrs. E. W. Latimer, Austin Dobson, Miss E. C. Bradley, Herbert E. Clarke and Edgar Fawcett. The editorial departments are full of entertaining and useful matter; and the publishers' special announcement of the forthcoming Christmas number—the regular issue for December—and of the leading attractions of the magazine for 1884, indicate their purpose not only to maintain the high position already gained for this periodical, but also to still farther advance its standard of literary, artistic and mechanical excellence.

NOVEMBER ATLANTIC.

The November Atlantic continues several of the features which made the October number of unusual excellence. The serial stories, "A Roman Singer" and "Newport" have each two new chapters, and Mr. Longdon furnishes a second chapter of "Recollections of Rome during the Italian Revolution." One of the most delightful articles is a biographical sketch of Dr. Ezra Ripley, of Concord, by Ralph Waldo Emerson, and while it is perhaps less characteristic of Mr. Emerson than some of his essays, few of these are more thoroughly interesting and delightful than this sketch. Rev. Brooke Herford contributes an engaging and valuable paper on the "Trustworthiness of the Hebrew Traditions." Henry James continues his studies of provincial France, this time writing of Narbonne, Montpellier, and Nimes. Charles Dudley Warner contributes another of his excellent travel papers, entitled "Random Spanish Notes." Albert S. Bolles furnishes some important suggestions toward a proper answer to the question "What Instruction should be given in our colleges?" It is quite radical, yet is written with such clearness and such manifest appreciation of the defects in the present system of education, that it cannot fail to enlist the earnest attention of all who are interested in the subject of higher education. Miss Sarah Orne Jewett contributes another of her charming New England series, "An Only Son." Maria Louise Henry, under the title of "A Noble Lady," gives a very interesting sketch of Marie de Hautefort, one of the noblest of French ladies of two centuries and a half ago. Olive Thorne Miller writes in an attractive style of the robin, which she names "The Bird of the Morning." There are poems by Edith M. Thomas, C. P. Cranch and John Boyle O'Reilly. Reviews of new books and the Contributors' Club conclude an excellent number of this magazine. Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Boston.

THE MODERN AGE.

The current number of The Modern Age contains a sensible and interesting article on "Modern Dress," by Mrs. Armytage, which will be duly appreciated by the ladies. The article entitled "The French Newspaper Press," abounds in information, and "A Famous Novelist's Modes of Work" is Anthony Trollope's account of how his works were written. "Christian Bach and the Prima Donna" is a quaint story of Italian life in the eighteenth century. "Cycling" is a breezy essay by Dr. Richardson, on the sport which is so rapidly coming into general favor. Dr. Hawels' name is appended to an article on Richard Wagner's death, and the first half of "The Devil's Flirtation," translated from the Russian of Nicholas Gogol, gives the American public its first glimpse at the matter and manner of that fantastic writer. The remaining fiction consists of "Thirteen at Table," an amusing French story by H. L. Montaine, and "Two Pards," an exciting description of some phases of life on the new western railroads. Some poetry and the usual editorial departments finish up this number of The Modern Age in good style. New York City. $1.00 per annum.

LITERARY NOTES.

Zola's new novel, "La Joie de Vivre," will be a psychological study of family life.

Mr. Browning has published a preface to a volume of sermons by his favorite parson.

M. Proudle is well advanced with his "Life of Carlyle," and contributes an article on Saint Theresa to the next Quarterly.

Mr. Matthew Arnold will early at least three lectures with him to America; one first on social politics, the second on education, and the third on literature.

The Modern Age announces a new department to be called "Examination Papers." Cash and other prizes will be awarded for the best replies to questions propounded by its editors.

The North American Review, November number, has a contribution from Dr. Norvin Green, president of the Western Union telegraph company, in opposition to the proposed government purchase of the telegraph.

It is said that the mummies of kings have just been discovered. The inspector had confided to his friend M. Jullien, who was at one time Prefect of the Basses-Alps. The secrets consist of about 200 pounds of treasure gold.

In the third of his papers in the Critic on the leading London publishers, Mr. Charles E. Pascoe expresses the opinion that so long as there is no international copyright, the American publishers will continue to publish in England and deal directly with the English authors—not for advance sheets, plates or a small edition, but for the manuscript itself.

Mr. Henry C. Meyer, proprietor and editor of the Sanitary Engineer of New York, has acceded to a proposition made to him during his recent visit abroad for a European edition of his popular and scientific journal. The London issue will comprise the American sheets with an attractive cover added. A circulation of several thousand copies a week more than is now possessed by any British publication of a similar character is the reward of this stroke of American enterprise.

G. P. Putnam's Sons, among numerous other new publications, announce a volume entitled, "The Secret Service of the Confederate States in Europe; or, How the Confederate Cruisers were Equipped," by James D. Bullock, late naval representative in Europe of the Confederate states. The work will be issued in two volumes, simultaneously in London and New York. It is prepared from official sources, and is expected to contain material of no little novelty and interest concerning the Anglo-Confederate naval operations.

"Illustrations and Meditations; or, Flowers from a Puritan's Garden," is a new work from the vigorous pen of the Rev. Charles Spurgeon. From the twenty-two volumes of the stanch Puritan, Thomas Manton, the renowned editor has culled a collection of figures and metaphors rich in thought and fertile in illustration. The terse sentences and pithy phrase of the old writer have a freshness about them that is mostly invigorating. Mr. Spurgeon has added to each saying remarks of his own, giving much additional interest to the volume. It is published by Funk & Wagnalls, New York.

Tourgenieff's story of "After Death," which appeared in our July and August numbers was one of his latest productions, and was suggested by the suicide of Julia Feyghine, the Parisian actress. It was quite different from his other works, in the particular that fantasy had a large place in it, and supernatural agency was introduced in a half-veiled form. When he heard of the Feyghine tragedy his mind was in a morbid condition, and the questions that Hamlet asked, and was not able to solve, took a firm hold of his mind. In the stage of his life his imagination became phenomenally active and ceased to feed upon reality.—The Modern Age.

For seven years past Edwin Allen & Bro., Cincinnati, Ohio, have issued annually their American Newspaper Catalogue, but never duplicated it. It has differed year after year in that it has been modified by wants and experience of advertisers. The number of newspapers and magazines published in the United States and the Canadas, as herein catalogued, is 13,233, an increase over the number last year of 1,110. Total—in the United States, 12,667; in the Canadas, 566. Published as follows: Dailies, 1,210; tri-weeklies, 70; semi-weeklies, 162; Sundays, 129; weeklies, 10,651; bi-weeklies, 22; semi-monthlies, 216; monthlies, 1,231; bi-monthlies, 11.

The London correspondent of the Sun asserts that Anthony Trollope's autobiography is the chief literary event of the week. It is written in a cheery vein, and yet gives an unexpectedly sad picture of his early struggles. His father was insanely disinterested, his clever mother never believed in him, and both were chronically impecunious. He had no money, was considered very stupid at school, and was so ragged that he was once stopped in the street by the headmaster of Harrow and reproved for his dirty appearance. Appointed to a small clerkship in the postoffice he had to resort to the Jews, and once paid $100 for a loan of $50. He was 30 years old when he wrote his first novel, and only fifty copies were sold. His second book also failed. Afterward he made $21,000 yearly for twelve years.

Spanish Ladies in 1622.

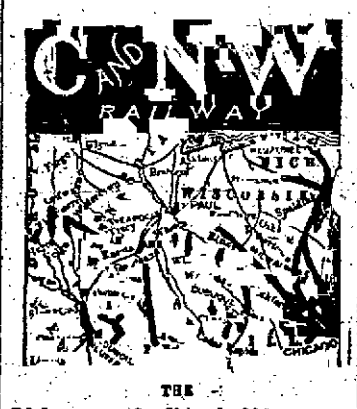

All The Year Round.

In the matter of jewelry Spanish ladies were very extravagant. Precious stones, however, were badly set, being overframed in gold. It was not enough, as in France, to possess one costly set. Fashion demanded that a Spanish lady should have eight or ten sets, some of diamonds, others of rubies, emeralds, pearls, and turquoises. "The ladies," as we learn from the Countess Daulois, "wear at the top of their stays a broad knot of diamonds, from whence there hangs a chain of pearls, or 10 or 12 knots of diamonds which they fasten at the other end to their sides. They never wear any necklace, but they wear bracelets, rings and pendants; the latter of which are longer than a person's hand, and so heavy that I have wondered how they could carry them without tearing out the lobes of their ears, to which they add whatever they think pretty. I have seen some have large watches hanging there; others padlocks of precious stones, and even your fine-wrought English keys and little bells. They also carry upon their sleeves, their shoulders and all about their clothes Agnus Dais and small images. They have their heads stuck full of bodkins, some made of diamonds in the shape of a fly, and others like butterflies, whose colors are distinguished by various stones."

Mr. Blaine's Grievance.

Atlanta Constitution:

After Senator Lamar's famous assault on Conkling, some senator commented in open session on the severity of his words. He replied: "I meant to be severe. I meant to put upon the senator from New York words that no good man would deserve and no brave man would bear." Later, Lamar and Blaine, who are devoted to each other, were walking arm in arm down Pennsylvania avenue. Lamar asked Blaine what he thought of what had been said. Blaine replied: "Lamar, you say you are fond of me, but you have not shown your friendship in this matter. Why do you insist on saying these things to Conkling and rallying the whole republican party around him? Why don't you say them to me? I forgive you this time, but next time you have anything of that sort to say, do remember your friends."

Quicksilver Production

SAN FRANCISCO, October 20.—President Randall, of the quicksilver mining company, stated to-day that the production of quicksilver was so rapidly decreasing that it would soon become unprofitable to work in this country The California production in 1882 was over 7,000 flasks less than in 1881. This year the production will probably show a still further decrease. Quicksilver men will move congress for protection against foreign importation, which is steadily increasing. Randall says there are thirty millions invested in quicksilver mines on this coast, employing five thousand men, and that the duty will have to be placed at ten cents a pound on the foreign article if the mines here are to be worked at a profit.

Swindling Pension Agents

WASHINGTON, October 20. Gen. Dudley, commissioner of pensions, in his report takes up the question of the practices of claim agents with pensioners, and says the evils of which complaints have been made have greatly increased and that the present situation calls for immediate action by congress. He says the business has attracted to it many ignorant and unscrupulous persons whose only object seems to be to procure applications from pensioners and then assiduously dun the claimants until a $10 fee is secured.

Five years established and never known to fail in a single case, acute or chronic Refer to all prominent physicians and druggists for the standing of Salicylica.

THE TREATMENT:

THE ONLY DISSOLVER OF THE POISONOUS URIC ACID WHICH EXISTS IN THE BLOOD OF RHEUMATIC AND GOUTY PATIENTS.

SALICYLICA is known as a common-sense remedy, because it strikes directly at the cause of Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia, while so many so-called specifics and supposed panaceas only treat locally the effects

It has been conceded by eminent scientists that outward applications, such as rubbing with oils, ointments, liniments, and soothing lotions will not eradicate those diseases which are the result of the poisoning of the blood with Uric Acid

SALICYLICA works with marvelous effect on this acid and soon removes the disorder It is now exclusively used by all celebrated physicians of America and Europe. Highest Medical Academy of Paris reports 95 per cent. cures in three days that SALICYLICA is a certain cure for RHEUMATISM, GOUT and NEURALGIA. The most intense pains are subdued almost instantly

The energetic Frohman brothers of Madison Square fame Daniel, Gustave and Charles—were originally destined for the newspaper business. In 1867 Gustave Frohman began his newspaper career as copy boy on the New York Tribune At that time Augustin Daly did the dramatic for the Tribune and six other papers as well One night, owing to a pressure of work, Mr. Daly allowed the aspiring Gustave to write a criticism but it never found its way into print, and the only encouragement he received from the august and powerful critic of seven papers was the cool intimation that he would never make a critic. He mentally resolved however, that if he couldn't become a dramatic critic he would become a theatrical manager, and in this respect he is certainly Mr Daly's equal, which is some consolation
